

Binary Search Tree (BST)

- It is a hierarchical, nonlinear data structure.
- Its properties are given below:
 - Each node has a value.
 - Left subtree of a node contains values less than the node's value.
 - Right subtree of a node contains the values greater than or equal to the node's value.

Example:

